Join us on October 2 for the launch of the Don't Get ICEd and to hear testimony from community-based organizations about the impacts of police/ICE collaboration in our communities.

Don't Get ICEd is a web-based interactive Know Your Rights community education tool, available in English and Spanish. Don't Get ICEd provides information on how to protect yourself, a loved one, or a client that has been arrested from going to immigration jail or getting deported. Getting arrested can have serious consequences for immigrants living in the United States. A person could be deported even if the case seems minor or gets dismissed. Immigration and Customs Enforcement increasingly uses the criminal justice system to identify immigrants for deportation. In some cases, contact with the police may lead to one's deportation.

Don't Get ICEd: A Guide To Protecting Immigrants From Deportation After Arrest is a project of the Immigrant Defense Project and the Center for Urban Pedagogy through Public Access Design. Available October 3 at dontgeticed.org.
